GREENEVILLE'S LETTER.

Farming, Corporation Matters, Petition to the Legislature, Burglary, Etc.

From our Regular Correspondent.

GREENEVILLE, March 29, 1889.

MR. EDITOR: This is beautiful weather and our farmers are making good use of the time. Consequently business in town is dull, and news items scarce. Greenville has felt the effect of hard times in the depreciation in the value of real estate and stagnation in business; but we believe that the worst is over, and as compared with last year there is some improvement. Now that farmers are at home and business in town dull the citizens are making good use of the time in making garden, building, fencing, and beautifying their premises. The peach trees are now in full bloom, and although we had a white frost a few days since, the peaches are unhurt, and unless they are killed hereafter we will have an abundant crop.

Our town charter is still in the hands of the merciless Legislature, and reports say that the bill to repeal the town charter only lacks the reciting in the House and the governor's signature to become a law. In case this bill passes our grocers, Mrs. Ward and Harper say they will open drug stores and have physicians to furnish prescriptions and they will give a liberal patronage from their former customers. Perhaps instead of "whisky straits" and "brandy washers" we may then have introduced as inventions Ward's Smile-producing Elixier, or Harper's Throat and

We are all anxious for the Legislature to quit their foolishness and adjourn. We expect no settlement of the State debt question, or the passage of any law which will be of any benefit to the people. However, the good citizens of our town have got up a petition which will, no doubt, attract attention. It has received a large number of signatures, and will be forwarded to Col. Savage to-night, with the request that it be immediately brought before the House. The petition is as follows:

To the Honorable body of Representatives of the State of Tennessee:

We, the undersigned, being taxpayers of the county of Greene and town and suburbs of the town of Knoxville, would humbly pray your honorable body to enlarge the incorporation of the town of Greeneville, Tenn., so as to include Paint Lick, on the Warm Springs Road, thence a straight line northwest to Midway, thence to the bank of Lick Creek, thence northeast with the meanders of said Lick to Clear Spring Academy to include Rheontown, thence south on the road with Earnest's Bridge to the mouth of Bald Mountain, thence south with the top of said mountain to the beginning. Also to add one day to the month of February, as it is too hot to cut and bind trees in June, have harvest changed to October. Also to be certain to repeal the ten commandments, and to give the colored people white-

P. S.—In each district of said county, when milk is scarce, to allow one distillery for making their whisky. Also a mint to each district to make good nickels sufficient to pay off the State debt, and an act giving the Town Council power to arrest a man as well as he can't as when he is. And your petitioners will ever be, &c.

Of course there are some persons anxious to see the action of the Legislature on the petition.

Your tailors, Woolford & Schweikhard had the bad luck to have their shop robbed a few nights since. There were in the shop a number of valuable pieces of cloth belonging to customers, all of which were taken, as well as a pair of shears and some private clothing. It is supposed that the theft was committed by a couple of tramps who were seen in town the day before, and have not been seen since.

OUR KINGSTON LETTER.

Immense Panther Killed In Morgan County.

KINGSTON, March 29, 1879.

Editor: There was killed an Obeds river, Morgan county, last Thursday, one of the largest ever killed in this section. Several times last winter and fall it been and heard in the neighborhood where it was killed. It had a great many sheep and hogs, none had been able to get close enough to have a shot at it. On Tuesday news came to town that had been seen devouring a deer in a wild region where Dadbrook enters into Obeds river, Morgan county, fourteen miles from Kingston. Two of our veterans, Mr. J. M. Sturges and Sam. Ladd, determined to go and see if they could not secure one. They took with them a dozen good hounds, three of which were destined never to come alive. On last Thursday morning early the hounds struck its trail. They run it from sun-up in the morning until four o'clock in the evening before it would take a tree and remain until the hunters could get close enough to get a shot at it. It would climb a tree frequently, but every time the hunters would come in sight it would jump out among the dogs, and if one was in the way seize it and tear it terribly and bound away before the others could reach it. But toward evening it became tired and finally took refuge in a tree, where it remained until the hunters could approach near enough to get a shot. They shot seven balls into it before it fell from the tree. When it fell it seized a dog, and in its dying struggles tore him horribly until it died. The hunters, thinking it was dead, approached too near it, when it revived somewhat and began to spring about in its dying struggles, causing a stampede amongst them. Mr. Turges says the way Col. Ladd killed it up a tree, with his 250 pounds avoirdupois, was a sight to behold. They brought its skin to town yesterday, and have it on exhibition at the harness shop of Mr. Turges. The panther measured, from the tip of its nose to the end of its tail, 8 feet and $8\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The farmers are beginning to plant corn. Wheat looks very well. The peach crop is not hurt, so far, and birds fair to be a heavy one. Work is going on all along the line of the Cincinnati Railroad. There are more cattle buyers this year than ever known before. Persons who have young cattle have that which is better than the money, for more than they are worth.

ROANE.

EAST TENNESSEE WESLEYAN
UNIVERSITY,

Public Entertainment by the Philomathean Literary Society.

From our Occasional Correspondent.

ATHENS, March 29, 1879.

MR. EDITOR: An unusually large audience, completely filling the
capacious chapel of the University,
assembled this evening to witness
the public exhibition given by the Philomathean Literary Society.
The exercises were commenced by
an inspiring piece of music, excellently rendered by the University
choir, followed by a declamation by W. L. Davis. This selection, "The Drunkard's Death,"
by Dickens, was rendered in a very appropriate and creditable manner. H. C. Hitchcock, editor of The Philomathean, next read the first number of that periodical,
which was uncommonly well prepared, containing a great variety of
entertaining and instructive matter,
and was read in a manner which
did not a little to its interest.
The debate, which came after the
reading, was one of the most interesting features of the entertainment. The question was the old familiar one of the Protective tariff, and was discussed in a remarkably able manner by the contenders, B. C. Bramlett, for free trade, and R. D. Whittle, in favor of the tariff.

H. Hurley next appeared,
and gave a very comic declamation, even more comically delivered. This effort was, of its kind, a decided success, and repeatedly brought laughter to the house.

essay, by Douglas Caulkins, the unique title, "The Twanged Harp," followed. The "songs" of Mr. Caulkins' "harp" is the soul of nature and the soul of man; and his essay was exceedingly well-written, and read very fully and distinctly.

In an oration upon "The Survival of the Fittest," by R. J. Cooke, was in order. This was one of the thoughtfully prepared productions to which we have for a long had the pleasure of listening. Happiness of conception, eloquence of expression and excellence of delivery, it alike excelled.

W. H. Massey, the President of the Society, then addressed a few very entirely appropriate and well-considered closing remarks, after which the audience dispersed.

We think the society has just begun to feel proud of the attained by every participant in this exhibition. The entertainment, as a whole, was even a little above the average Philadelphia standard, and this the past season has proven to be one not easily excelled.

The music, for its excellence, deserves especial mention. An excellent and beautiful new banner, on the left side of the stage, and the society has recently purchased, occupied a prominent position in front of the stage, and was the object of universal admiration.

ANUS.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

A physician, retired from practice, had placed in his hands by an East India Company the formula of a simple vegetable cure for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma, and all lung affections, also a palliative and cure for various debility, and all chronic diseases. He has transferred his valuable test to his wonderful cure in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his sufferer, relieve him by this medicine and a desire to relieve his suffering I will send free of charge to all who send me this receipt with full directions for its use and sent in Germany. French and English. Sent by mail by address with stamps this paper, W. W. Sherard, 149 Powers Rochester, New York.

LIVER PILLS

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person (about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes clogged it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the veins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, produces eruptions, pimples, rashes, itching, &c. The stomach becomes diseased, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Flatulence, Colic, Headache, Nervousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Bilious Stomach and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. Mazzoni's Hintsman, the great vegetable Sifter and Sour Stomach, causes the Liver to throw off front one to two ounces of bile each time the blood passes through it, so long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect even after a few doses upon yellow complexion or a cure of itching humors, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. A true sign of biliousness, and Liver complaint is made certain by taking LIVER PILLS in accordance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disagreeable effects from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.
